Lightning Struck Wire.

Lightning struck a telephone wire at J. E. Ledford's, in the county, Tue-day and followed the wire into the house, setting fire to the wall paper.
Mr. Ledford happened to see the fire starting and fanned out the blaze with his hat.

Shocking Sounds

In the earth are sometimes heard before the terrible earthquake, that warn of the coming peril. Nature's warnings are kind. That dull pain or ache in the back warns you the kidneys need attention if you would escape those dangerous maladies, Dropsy, Diabetes or Bright's disease.
Take Electric Bitters at once and see backache fly and all your best feelings return. "My son received great benefit from their use for kidney and bladder trouble," writes Peter Bondy, South Rockwood, Mich. "It is certainly a great kidney medicine." Try it. 50 cents at Fatal Sunburn.

New York, Aug. 23—A blister caused by sunburn proved fatal to Winthrop Jordan, a summer resident at Bay Shore. Blood poison developed.

He Won't Limp Now.

No more limping for Tom Moore of Cochran, Ga. "I had a bad sore on my instep that nothing seemed to help till I used Bucklen's Arnica Salve," he writes, "but this wonderful healer soon cured me." Heals old, running sores, ulcers, boils, burns, cuts, bruises, eczema or piles.
Try it. Only 25c at All Druggists.

RAT DESTROYS WINE

Curious Pest That Afflicts Inhabitants of Ceylon.

Its Odor So Powerful That It Penetrates the Corks—Milk and Water Are Doctored in a Peculiar Way.

Wine made in Ceylon has acurios enemy, the muskrat. Not an innocent and even edible beast like our own muskrat, but a creature described as "a fearful plague, and so powerful is its odor that at one time it was thought it would even penetrate glass."

This belief was due to the fact that securely bottled wine, over the bottles of which this rat had passed and in passing perfumed them, was found, on opening to be utterly worthless and full of musk. According to Bonfort's Wine and Spirit Circular, investigations and experiments, however, showed that instead of penetrating the glass, it finds access to the wine through the cork.

The water of Ceylon is none of the best. Near the coast lines it is brackish, owing to the sea and the many salt marshes. In the low country where rivers and streams are few and far apart, the supply is from artificial tanks, and their tributary streams and outlets are the resort of the deer and cattle and elephants that come to bathe and wallow in them, thereby keeping the water in a muddy state perpetually.

To remedy this condition the Cingalese resort to a rather curious practice; water for drinking purposes is always put into an unglazed chatty, which before using they thoroughly rub with a seed that they call ingini.
This is rubbed on the inside of the chatty until about half the seed is worn away; the muddy water is then poured in the prepared jar and allowed to stand.

At first the water is about the consistency of mackage, but this soon disappears and a viscid sediment forms at the bottom of the vessel, the clear water remaining on top. It is now ready for use, and although not of the clearest, is sufficiently pure for ordinary use.

Milk is almost a luxury in Ceylon, owing to several causes, among which is the land leech. These pests frequent the pastures in such numbers that they will suck the blood from an animal in a very short time, and therefore cattle raising cannot be resorted to on any large scale. Another feature is the use of bakatoo by the natives in the milk which they sell to the Europeans who have settled there.

It is a thorny fruited plant with dark orange-colored roots and primrose-like flowers, which has equally wonderful effects on milk and on water, though of a different nature.
If pieces of the stem, root and leaves be mixed for a few seconds in milk or water, the liquid turns thick and mucilaginous, so much so that water in this state can be raised by the hand several feet out of a basin and will fall back without noise. This, moreover, is done without imparting any color, taste or smell to the fluid, which returns to its natural state in about ten or fifteen minutes.

What the Zebu is Doing.

A. P. Borden of the gulf coast, Texas, through some practical experiments became convinced that a combination of the zebu, or sacred ox of India, with the Texas cattle would produce a strain that would be immune from the so-called Texas fever, a disease that is transmitted from one animal to another by the Texas tick.
Millions of dollars have been lost through the ravages caused by this insect, and other millions have been expended by the government in an attempt to exterminate it. The zebu is immune to attacks from the tick, and the score of Indian cattle that was imported in 1906 and put with the native herds of Mr. Borden, have increased, waxed strong, fattened easily and remained free from ticks. It is believed that this new hybrid will flourish on the unlimited acres of swamp or marsh grass upon which our native cattle cannot live. If the cattabu, as the new animal is called, proves half as valuable as the southern stock raisers believe it will, its introduction will help to restore stock raising to its former prestige.

Smashing a Superstition.

A woman who sets particular store by the thirteen superstition surprised her friends by accepting an invitation to a luncheon where there were to be thirteen guests.

"I will be safe," she said, "for I shall make it a point to be the thirteenth person to enter the room. That is a funny thing about thirteen. Many accidents have happened to companies thirteen in number, but investigation has shown that while the other twelve persons suffered more or less the thirteenth person who joined the company always escaped un-harm."

A Vienna Industry.

"Ah, Gustave, what luck!"
"Excellent, Johann. I am writing four comic operas a year."
"Is it possible? Yet I have never seen one of your operas here in Vienna."
"I have never produced one here. I turnish European successes for the American stage."

Value of Contentment.

A contented mind is the greatest blessing a man can enjoy in this world, and if, in the present life, his happiness arises from conquering his desires, it will arise in the next from the gratification of them.

Almost Lost His Life.

S. A. Stid, of Mason, Mich., will never forget his terrible exposure to a merciless storm. "It gave me a dreadful cold," he writes, "that caused severe pains in my chest, so it was hard for me to breathe. A neighbor gave me several doses of Dr. King's New Discovery which brought great relief. The doctor said I was on the verge of pneumonia, but to continue with the Discovery. I did so and two bottles completely cured me." Use only this Useless Worrying.

An old author has remarked that there are two things which it does no good to worry about—what you can help, and what you can't help. The latter, because fretting won't help the matter; and in the former, because it is your duty to go and help it, without fretting.

Shark Hatched in Captivity.

For some time a shark's egg in the Glasgow (Scotland) Aquarium has been watched from day to day. It hatched a few days ago, an event unique in many respects. The tiny shark seems quite at home, and is not a bit shy of the numerous visitors who have crowded to see it.
